

Tiger Print

As discussed in our guarantee, your caravan or motorhome's paint work can be dulled by roadfilm, UV rays, air pollutants or a build-up of wax polish. As your vehicle is now being protected by a Pro-tec cover, the cover has the capacity to move in the wind which means the cover will naturally polish and buff your van, but only in the places the fabric comes into contact with.

If you see a dull or grey pattern "tiger print", on the paintwork of your vehicle (please see above image for an example), rest assured your cover has not damaged your paintwork. In fact, it has restored it to its former glory by removing the layers of roadfilm or polish that can build up naturally over time.

To rectify this, or prevent it from happening, ensure your caravan or motorhome is cleaned and polished all over (with a non-wax polish). Once your 'van is clean and shined, place your cover on and it will be in the same condition when you remove the cover, even after months or years!
